

Advance Shipment of Autumn Apparel is Ready!

The woman who wants to be first to wear the new fashions will quite naturally be very much interested in this early display. The new Suits are fashioned of velour, men's-wear serge, poplins, etc. Colors are navy, brown, green and black. The coats are longer than those of preceding seasons. Skirts are quite full although they do not look nearly as full as they are, as a matter of fact, they fall in graceful lines from the waist. The coats are trimmed with fur as a rule; others are trimmed with velvet and buttons. There's much satisfaction and added service in buying early.

Tremendous Reduction on Spring and Summer Suits

The balance of our Spring and Summer Suits in values up to $20.00 and $25.00, now at $9.95

By an act passed at the special session of the legislature just adjourned, an opportunity is to be given all legal voters of the state now in active service outside the state with the Vermont National Guard to vote at the primary election to be held Sept. 12, provided the clerk of that town or city in which they would be voters certifies the same to Col. Reeves, the commandant of the Vermont troops at Eagle Pass. As there are a number of young men from this city who would be eligible to vote under this act and as I have no means of knowing who they are unless I am personally acquainted with them, I request their friends or relatives to advise me of the name of anyone from this city who would be eligible to vote under this provision; also the company in which he serves, so that I may be able to certify the same to the proper authority. The list has to be forwarded by me on Sept. 1. James Mackay, city clerk.

James Mackie of Summer street returned to the city Saturday from a business visit of several days in Troy, N. Y.

Any student taking commercial work at Goddard seminary who has not secured a place to work is requested to notify me at once. O. K. Hollister, principal.

Miss Marguerite Cayhne, who has been passing a vacation of two weeks with her grandmother, Mrs. Julia Cayhne of French street, returned yesterday to her home in Holyoke, Mass.

At this season when farmers are beginning to ripen their milkers on green corn and ensilage, mothers are cautioned not to feed their babies on milk from dairies where fodder of this kind is used.

Principal O. K. Hollister of Goddard seminary will be away from Tuesday morning until Friday morning, being in St. Johnsbury attending the annual convention of the Universalist denomination.

Another continuance in the case of State vs. Bixby was entered in city court this morning when the respondent failed to appear in answer to a charge that he violated the automobile laws early in the summer. Counsel for the defense was present and stated that he client had been notified to appear at 9 o'clock in the forenoon.

Although local veterinarians are not apprehensive that the glanders epidemic, which is infecting horses in Montpelier, will spread to Barre, horse owners are urged to be cautious in the care of their animals. City watering troughs are to be cleaned thoroughly by the health department and if precautionary measures count for anything the disease will not become epidemic in Barre. Glanders is a highly contagious disease that usually affects horses and mules and ends fatally after an acute course. It is transmitted to dogs and goats and even to human beings, although members of the bovine family are said to be immune from its ravages. Several horses in Montpelier, affected with the malady, have been shot. No cases have been reported in Barre.

Mrs. F. J. Ladd and daughter, Merle, of Essex Junction are visiting Mrs. Philip Mayotte.

Mrs. B. F. Caldwell and little son, Woodrow, spent Friday with Mrs. Philip Mayotte.

Soil Fertilizer Makes 20 More Bushels of Corn to the Acre.

The difference between 29.9 bushels of corn to the acre and 49.9 bushels means exactly the same to the farmer as the difference between calico and silk means to his wife. Farm and Fireside shows how you can get that difference. It says:

"This result of value as one thinks of the fertility in the soil that was brought up with the plowing that must have been held back when the soil was simply stirred. But the question of the fertility of the soil does not end with the plowing. In Ohio, where records were kept of the cultivations given corn, it was noted that when the field was cultivated six times two inches deep 92 bushels was the yield. Where the cultivation was four inches deep, the yield was 77 bushels.

"Deep cultivation did not do what was expected of it. In some way it prevented proper nourishment of the plants. The cultivator must have damaged some of the corn rootlets, and probably put other parts of touch with the soil from which they were gathering food.

"The idea of plowing deep and cultivating shallow would seem to be a sound one."

Growth of Extension Work.

An increase since the beginning of the present calendar year from approximately 6,800 to 15,455 in the number of women in the South enrolled in home demonstration work, carried on under the auspices of the department and state agricultural colleges, shown in figures for enrollment June 30, 1916, just announced by the office of extension work South.

In the same period, the number of girls enrolled in the canning, poultry, and other agricultural clubs carried on under the supervision of the same office increased from approximately 42,500 to 47,749.

The extension work among girls and women was being carried on at the end of the fiscal year in 420 counties in all of 15 southern states, through 420 county agents and 50 specialists. In addition, North Carolina had 200 subagents and Alabama 16 assistant county agents, who devoted their time to the extension activities. The largest enrollment of the girl demonstrators was in the canning clubs, which had 32,965 members. In the poultry clubs, 10,205 girls are learning, through their local groups, under expert leadership, the details of raising domestic fowls. In the clubs devoted to bread making, 3,721 girls were enrolled, and in other clubs, 858.
